Choosing Your Account Type

Your account type should reflect the content you plan to upload and who owns the account. For couples, you can either choose an account type that represents the primary account owner or opt for a Producer account.

Important Information

- Content Ownership: Remember, a Woman Creator account must be owned by a female performer, a Man Creator account by a male performer, and a Trans Creator account by the identified account owner.
- Sub-Divisions for Men Creator and Producer Accounts These accounts can be further categorized based on preferences (straight, gay, and also trans for Producers). This helps us connect you with users seeking specific content types.
- Co-performer Documentation: If you create content with co-performers, you'll need to submit documentation for any content that features performers other than the account owner.
